Local Candy Man Wins Fair Prize

"Tom" Bartlett, the well known local candy man and the inventor of the "Black Walnut Creamy Kisses," that attracted so much favorable attention at the Torrance Fiesta, returned last week from Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, where his "kisses" took the red-ribbon, second prize.

The Bartlett booth at both Pomona and Riverside, was hardly erected and its wares displayed before it became the center of attraction for those afflicted with a "sweet tooth" and during the entire week of the fair its proprietor and the five pretty girl assistants were busy supplying the wants of the thousands of visitors.

Chinaman Plays Part In "Hurricane's Gal"

The Chinaman's Queue has gone the way of the barroom, the hoop-skirt and the opera hat. If you don't believe it, and think you can see a pigtailed Celestial by simply peeping into a laundry or novelty shop, ask Allen Holubar what he knows about the modernized Chinese and his aversion to a plait of hair dangling over his shoulders.

It took Mr. Holubar several days to find out that the Chinese queue is a thing of the past. After scouring Los Angeles and San Francisco he finally got definite information on this point from William "Fat" Fong, a San Francisco peanut vendor, whom he promptly engaged for a role in his production of "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction starring Dorothy Phillips, which comes to the Torrance theatre next week.

Mr. Holubar also learned from Fong that Chinese have ideas of their own about dignity in connection with reference to themselves and their country on the motion picture screen. Before Fong would accept the role proffered him by Mr. Holubar he exacted from the producer his promise that there would be nothing in the picture that would reflect upon or ridicule either Fong or his race.

Fong also told Mr. Holubar that Chinese in practically all parts of the world began discarding their queues about the time that China became a republic. With the exception of the district around Peking, it would be hard to find a pigtailed Chinaman anywhere in the world, Fong declared. He also informed Mr. Holubar that motion pictures showing Tong wars are a source of great abhorrence to the Chinese. He said they frequently cause arguments that stir up bad blood and end in strife.

GOLDEN RUNNING STRONG

C. J. Colden, candidate for the Assembly from this district, who received the endorsement of both the Republicans and Democrats at the primaries, was in Torrance and Lomita yesterday renewing old acquaintances and incidentally gathering data on the probable cost of paving Western avenue. This has been the ambition for years of Mr. Colden—to see Western avenue paved. No road has been too long for him to travel to attend meetings where furthering the interests of new roads and paving of highways, especially in this section for the past several years. Torrance, no doubt, will roll up a safe majority for Mr. Colden at the coming election.

Harvest of Child Life Must Stop

That the harvest of child lives on the streets and roads of Southern California must stop is the growing sentiment among the municipalities of the southern and central counties.

According to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California more drastic measures are now contemplated to protect the children from the rush of careless motorists and to protect motorists from the rush of careless children.

Statistics show at the present time that more and more children are paying the penalty of playing in the roads and streets than ever before in the history of the west. In nearly all the larger communities restrictive measures have been taken, but it is the enforcing of these measures that the greatest good is to be accomplished.

Children are forbidden by law in most instances to play ball of either kind in the city streets. It is also generally prohibited to use a coaster in the streets or roads. Law usually stops skaters or coasters to "nip rides" behind automobiles. But in some instances these laws are not enforced, and the Auto club is starting a campaign to see that they are enforced.

An appeal of particular importance will be made to parents. It is asked that the parents instruct their children to do their playing in vacant lots or public or school playgrounds. This matter will also be brought to the attention of the public schools in every county through a periodical to be issued by the safety bureau of the Auto club.
